Helping You Safely Manage Your Medications

When it comes to medication safety, knowledge is power. For instant access to information on the medications you or your loved ones are taking, log on to MagellanHealth.com.

Medication interactions can result in unwanted side effects or change the effectiveness of your medicine. Check to see if there are any possible side effects by simply type in the medication name into our Medication Interactions Report. Learn of any adverse interactions between medications, over the counter drugs, herbal remedies and vitamins.

Get in-depth information the medications you are currently taking at MagellanHealth.com's Drug Information Center. Type in the medication and get a full report on what the medication is used for, how to take the medication, potentially harmful drug interactions, symptoms of a drug reaction, how to store the medication, and more.

MagellanHealth.com's Drug Identifier, helps you quickly identify pills that have become separated from their original packaging, or verify tablet and capsule products you may have questions about -- insuring that the right medication is taken to treat the right medical condition.

Medications are meant to relieve our pain and ills, and help us have longer, happier lives. But it's important to know all you can about them in order to get the most benefit with the least risk. If you have further questions about any medication you are taking, don't hesitate to talk to your doctor or pharmacist. Knowledge is the key to medication safety!
